

Awards

CES 2013 recognitions

Best of CES 2013, Digital Trends

- Seven Standouts at CES 2013, IDG News
- Standout Startups at CES 2013, IEEE Spectrum
- CES 2013 Startup Showcase: Two Favorites, PC World
- CES 2013 Recap: Mashable
- CES 2013 Recap: The Verge

“This Could Be Big” ABC News for CES 2013

“CES is a technology behemoth, blanketing Las Vegas for one week a year. At “This Could Be Big,” we’re looking for innovation that goes beyond upgrades and modifications, that changes the way we interact with technology. We found that this year in a young company from Hungary called Leonar3Do. Their 3D graphic design system blew us away with its ease of use and ability to change education and the way we create art.”

Main Awards

April 2010, New York

Stock Exchange, Kairos Summit: Intelius International Entrepreneurship Award. Out of the ten countries represented at the 2010 Summit of Churchill Club Panel on Young Entrepreneurs. The team developing Leonar3Do into a product was the only international prize-winner out of ten countries that gained qualification for the exhibition of Churchill Club Panel on Young Entrepreneurs in Palo Alto, 24th May 2010.

September 2008, San Jose

Tech Museum of Innovation: Tech Awards. The jury selected the Leonar3Do project of 3D for All Ltd. to be among the five most significant innovations of the world in the category of education, out of 329 candidates from 58 countries.

May 2005, Arizona

Intel–ISEF: at the world competition of young scientists and inventors, with 1447 participants, the international jury awarded Leonar3Do's prototype with the following six first prizes:

IEEE Computer Society, First Award • Patent and Trademark Office Society, First Award • Intel Foundation Achievement Award • Computer Science - Presented by Intel Foundation, Best of Category • Computer Science - Presented by Intel Foundation, First Award • Seaborg SIYSS Award.

...and many more

December 2009

The Conference of Hungarian Rectors took patronage over the education project of Leonar3Do.

Spring 2008

The Hungarian Prime Minister awarded Dániel Rátai's innovative achievements with the Youth of March state award.

September 2005

Dániel Rátai was the first to be awarded the prestigious György Oláh Young Scientist Award by the Hungarian Nobel scientist.

July 2005

MIT Lincoln Laboratory named a minor planet after Dániel.